

Even though I was offered free Krystal burgers from my old secret pizza boyfriend, Larry, I never actually had one before the other day in Chattanooga. Just down the street from Ziggy's and open at 1am a perfect drive-thru. Jason & Shannon & I went there and Shannon said she wanted a #7 combo. Turns out it costs $10⁹⁹ and includes 2 large fries, 2 large cokes and a dozen burgers. They are like white castles of Chicago sliders small, oh and these had cheese. Here's the kicker, Jason got a #7 too! I ate 2 and lots of fries. I ate the last one cold in the morning which wasn't as gross as one might think. The last thing about Krystal is the conversation before. It sounds like you are talking about some drug pick-up plan, eg. "I'm dying for some Krystal, can we go pick some up after the show?" "Sure. I'm totally strapped for cash though, I can drive if you spot me for my fix." "Goodie! I hate going to bed without Krystal!"

Cuisine of the Future...

- ① 'Haute Fudge': You know the amazing temperature explosion of a hot fudge sundae? This experience will be expanded to the main course. Imagine: Frozen cucumber mashed potatoes with a Rosemary Red Wine demi-glace! Sweet delicious frozen peas with a hot buerre blanc! Delish!
- ② 2 Meat Main Courses: No more of this 'meat' 'starch' 'vegetable' boloney! Fancy restaurants of the future will have 'veal confit in duck fat', and 'burgers enrobed in Roasted Chicken skin' Oh my god, mouth watering...
- ③ Steaming: Steaming with marinades and herbed water to the EXACT correct doneness will become a new taste sensation. Steaming is tricky, you know. Steamed puddings & pate's will be the new rage. Can you picture your beautiful, colorful plate with your shaped sweet potato pudding, that bright green broccoli, and your bright red tandoori marinated steamed chicken?
- ④ Plastique! You know american cheese food and the way it's crazy plastic? This texture will be brought to all foods, and to different degrees of rubbery-ness and stick-to-the-roof-of-your-mouth. Imagine Roast Beef like this! ♡ Asic next to the Koger on Glenn St in Auburn Albany. $3\frac{1}{2}$ so, they weren't closed but all the chairs were on the tables and they why they were cleaning the floor they like just made it into a swamp. The wonton soup looked like one of those jars full of pickled eggs but yellow and swollen, pasta so pastey and bloated. Broth was okay but not enough good crunchies and scallions. meat: blah

GOLDEN GATE

I'm a fan of small wontons these were the perfect size: one bite of just pasta hanging off your spoon then the meat and pasta ratio is perfect and just the right size for your mouth. the broth was real good not too salty or peppery and they gave us the largest cup of spicy sauce ever and he insisted on getting and washing a ladle for us but was too late. no crispy thingies, pasta not one bit slimy everyone should know the best god-damned day of their life. If you don't know, I suggest you FIGURE IT OUT! You have to do this before you have babies/get married, otherwise that will have to be your cop-out answer. Memories of your best day ever are good for: ① falling asleep to beautiful dreams ② vividly re-telling for your bored friends - and then they tell you theirs ③ evoking the memory to make yourself feel better - USE LIKE A DRUG! OK, now I'll tell you mine: My brother, boyfriend, friend & I went on a float trip. Soon after we started it began raining & got so cold, so we pulled up on shore & started a fire. I stripped down & jumped back into the freezing water. Floating on my back, with my ears underwater I let the current carry me downstream. I couldn't hear anything I just watched the rain falling towards me. Then I swim back upstream & do it again.
